Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN

IN his address at Washington college today Mr. Roosevelt availed himself of the time-honored habit of an American president to speak to his people not as a ruler but as merely one of them. At an evil hour in history when weak-kneed citizens are babbling idiotically of "dictatorship" Mr. Roosevelt asks his fellow Americans to remember their own country and the form of government which has maintained it through war and peace for a century and a half.

Bert Keith Named County Officer on U. S. Work Relief

Will Open Offices in Arkansas Bank Building Here Monday

TO WORK FOR PAY

Relief Workers Will Be Required to Hold Jobs Given Them

Bert Keith was named re-employment officer for Hempstead county Saturday by W. A. Rooksberry, state re-employment director of the U. S. Department of Labor, whose headquarters are in Little Rock.

Mr. Keith will open offices on the second floor of the Arkansas Bank & Trust Co. building Monday, and will start classifying all classes of labor now on the R. F. C. rolls in Hempstead county, along with any additional unemployed persons who have no means of support.

To Relieve R. F. C. Rolls
As re-employment officer for Hempstead county, Mr. Keith will urge all new employers of labor to make their selections from his lists of skilled and unskilled workers, in an attempt to take these people off the responsibility of the R. F. C.

Highway construction near Fulton on the Broadway of America will be the first project. When construction starts on the proposed Hope municipal swimming pool Mr. Keith expects to take a large number of people off the R. F. C. lists.

An effort will be made to place unemployed in places where their training and experience best fits. Mr. Keith told the Star. Once a man is given a full day's work in return for a day's pay. If he does not hold his job, and is discharged because he does not attempt to hold it, his name will not be returned to R. F. C. rolls. Mr. Keith explained.

Under Recovery Act
This movement is a part of the National Recovery Act, passed in the last session of congress, to attempt to find work for unemployed people, and to ultimately displace R. F. C. labor, where relief was more important than asking for value received, he said. Qualified workers who under the re-employment law are entitled to preference shall secure such treatment.

Opportunity for employment on projects authorized by the Public Works Board, shall be equitably distributed among qualified workers who are unemployed, and not among those who merely wish to change one good job for another, according to instructions to county re-employment officers.

Delegates Report to Kiwanis Club

Four Hope Men Recount Convention at Hutchinson, Kansas

Hope delegates were late to almost all of the meetings of the Missouri-Kansas and Arkansas convention of Kiwanis clubs at Hutchinson, Kan., the Rev. Geo. X. Strassner told the local club Friday night. The dinner in the New Capital dining room. He was re-elected lieutenant governor of the Southwest Arkansas district of Kiwanis at that convention.

O. L. Williams told of the banquet, Kiwanis dinners and conference breakfasts of the delegates. Sid Bundy told how the delegates enjoyed the trip, and how royally they were treated by the other delegates. He mentioned a club dinner for the convention held at the abode of a salt mine near Hutchinson. The dinner was held 640 feet below surface level, Mr. Bundy said. He brought several samples of raw salt.

John P. Cox reported on some of the speeches delivered to the delegates. Mr. Bundy suggested the Hope club give the Rev. Mr. Strassner a rising vote of appreciation for the work he has been doing in the tri-state district of Kiwanis, as exemplified on this convention trip. This was heartily done.

The four delegates returned Thursday night from the annual convention. Next year the meeting is to be held at Excelsior Springs, Mo. Every third year this convention is held in Arkansas.

Vernon Whitten was initiated into the Kiwanis club Friday night. J. C. Jacobson, manager of the J. C. Fennedy store in Texarkana, was a guest of A. E. Stonequist, Hope manager.

Quarterback Brown Plays Best Game of His Career

Using a hard running attack, a Bobcat football team that blocked well, hit hard and scored often, displayed a wealth of offensive power here Friday night in pounding out a victory over Malvern High School, 26 to 6.

Some 700 fans came out to see the contest, one of the more important games for the Bobcats. They came, for the most part, expecting a close battle between the two teams.

They saw, instead, an aroused Bobcat team which started scoring in the first quarter and persisted until the final gun. Quarterback Brown was the outstanding star for the locals. Twice he made runs for 40 yards and over for touchdowns. In the final quarter he shot a pass to Turner who sprinted 35 yards to the goal line.

Turner also made another touchdown plunging over from the three-yard line after a bewildering 88-yard march that featured Brown, Cargile and Hargis in a series of punches through the line and long ends runs.

Hope registered its first marker in the middle of the first quarter. Two more touchdowns were made in the second quarter and the half ended with the Bobcats out in front, 20 to 0. Hope's final touchdown came in the last quarter.

Malvern Scores
Taking advantage of a fumbled ball, Malvern in the third quarter drove 20 yards, making three consecutive first downs for its lone score. O'Connor, Malvern fullback, carried the ball over. Two more costly fumbles in the third quarter and severe penalties, put Malvern in scoring position again, but the Bobcat forward wall stiffened and held.

The locals made 17 first downs against 5 for Malvern. From penalties the Bobcats suffered a total yardage of 70, compared with five yards for the visitors. Malvern was outplayed throughout the contest with the exception of the third quarter when several bad "breaks" gave Malvern possession of the ball.

Playing the best football game of his career, Quarterback Brown was a big threat every minute he was in the game. It was Brown who took a punt near mid-field, scampered through a broken field for 40 yards to score Hope's first touchdown in the middle of the first quarter. A kick for extra point failed.

As the second quarter opened Brown threw a pass to Turner for 10 yards, putting the ball on Malvern's 45-yard line. On the next play Brown took a slash at the line, found a hole and dashed 45 yards to the goal line. Matheson sent in and kicked for extra point.

Malvern received, worked the ball to Hope's 12-yard line where a pass failed on the fourth play with only two yards to go for a first down. Hope took possession of the ball and things began to happen fast.

Hope Scores Again
Brown threw a pass to Turner for 20 yards. Cargile was inserted into the game and on the first play dashed around left end for 20 yards. He added more on another end run. Hargis plunged for first down and Brown ripped off 10 through the line. Hargis was called upon again and battered his way for eight yards through the line, placing the ball only four yards from the goal. He added another yard.

HAVANA, Cuba.—(P)—The locomotive and two baggage cars of the Santiago express were derailed early Saturday when an explosion blew up nearly 400 feet of track near the town of Empalme, Matanzas province, 50 miles from Havana. There were no casualties. The explosion came amidst unsettled labor conditions that grew worse despite the government's vigorous moves to settle difficulties.

ATHENS, Greece.—(P)—The hearing on the United States government's effort to extradite Samuel Insull in connection with the collapse of his public utility interests in that country opened here Saturday. The former Chicago financier arrived in court with two plainclothes men.

WASHINGTON.—(P)—The Public Works Administration Saturday allotted 25 million dollars to the Army and Navy for national defense. The Department of War was given 10 millions for motorization, and 15 millions was allotted for appropriation between the two departments for aviation construction.

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Harvey C. Couch, of Arkansas, director of the Reconstruction Corporation and president of Arkansas Power & Light Co., will probably be called before the senate's stock market investigating committee next week for inquiry into a personal letter written by him about stock transactions last year to Charles McCall, chairman of the governing board of the Chase National bank. The letter, found by committee agents in the bank's files, referred to transactions in Seaboard Air Line railroad stock, and investigators said it was not self-explanatory.

Roosevelt Is to Speak on Sunday

Will Address Himself to Revolvers in Western Wheat Belt

WASHINGTON.—(P)—NRA officials were looking forward Saturday to President Roosevelt's address to the country Sunday night with the expectation that he will express himself to allay the farmers' objections against the recovery program.

He is expected to explain the delay in the public works program, and the disparity in farm and industrial prices.

He will also give a simply-worded explanation of what the recovery program has done, and what he intends it to do.

Milo Reno, president of the National Farmers Holiday association, Friday spread the call to a farm strike through midwest states while President Roosevelt and his cabinet discussed a plan to offer crop loans to farmers.

Demand Payment of Utility Bills

Municipal Plant Must Have Money, Council Committee Warns

The water and light committee of Hope city council launched a drive Saturday to clean up accumulated accounts due the municipal water and light plant by local citizens.

The committee announced that monthly bills would have to be paid in full by the 10th of the month following or service would be discontinued and the meter removed. Where there is an old balance a substantial reduction will be required monthly until paid in full.

Prosecution is threatened householders who have attempted to wire around their meter, escaping payment of a portion of their monthly electric bill. Upon detection by city investigators these householders will be arrested, and service will be discontinued until the house wiring has been placed in conduits, and a Square-D switch installed, the city's announcement said.

This vigorous collection policy follows a $15,000 grant by the city council to maintain a free high school here this season, which amount must be met in ten monthly installments of $1,500 each. To obtain the money the city must have prompt and full settlement of utility bills, it was said.

It isn't a very good movie. Taken by a French firm, it makes no effort to show details of the extraordinary structures which feature the Chicago fair. New York Banks Ready to Begin Making Russian Loans Again

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Speedy recognition of Soviet Russia, with a resultant boom in Russo-American trade, was forecast authoritatively Saturday close upon receipt of word that the Communist state intends to rush its representative to the White House.

In unformed quarters it was stated the Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign affairs commissar, probably will reach the White House within the next two weeks.

Some officials expressed the opinion privately that should the conversations solve the difficulties in the path of recognition a trade spurt passing beyond the 100-million-dollar mark could be expected.

Began 10 Days Ago

WASHINGTON.—(P)—President Roosevelt suddenly opened the way late Friday for relations between the 16-year-old Communist government of Soviet Russia and the United States.

In a matter-of-fact letter to Mikhail Kalinin, president of the Soviet republic, Mr. Roosevelt 10 days ago invited him to send a representative here "to explore with me personally all questions of standing between our countries."

Wednesday, Kalinin cabled acceptance and designated M. Litvinoff, commissar for foreign affairs, to come to Washington to talk with Mr. Roosevelt. A date has not been set.

In his office packed with newspapermen, the president read his letter and the reply. It was the first time since the overthrow of the Czarist regime in 1917 that the governments of these two great nations had been in direct communication.

"Participation in such a discussion would, of course," the president wrote Kalinin, "not commit either nation to any future course of action, but would indicate a sincere desire to reach a satisfactory solution of the problems involved. It is my hope that such conversations might result in good to the people of both our countries."

NEW YORK.—(P)—With the announcements of the forthcoming Roosevelt-Litvinoff recognition conversations, it was learned authoritatively Friday night that several Wall Street bankers are preparing to ease credit immediately for interest of Soviet sales by discounting acceptances of the Amtorg Trading Corporation.

In addition to discounts—something that Wall Street has shied away from since the Soviet repudiation of debts—it was learned the banks stand ready to make loans to Amtorg, the Russian trading agency.

It was also felt in informed quarters here that the Washington conversations between the president and the Soviet commissar for foreign affairs will lead to a heavy extension of federal credit.

While cotton has assumed a dominance in recent credit negotiations for a $50,000,000 loan from the R. F. C. to Amtorg—which have lain dormant with the imminence of Friday's development—manufacturers of heavy industrial equipment probably will benefit more from easier credit to the Soviet union.

In 1932, the United States exports totaled only slightly more than $15,000,000.

Rockefeller Report Opposes License System

There is made public today a portion of the results, shortly to be published, of a study, sponsored by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., of the problem of liquor control. The study was conducted by Raymond B. Fosdick and Albert L. Scott. The portion made public today, dealing with the defects of liquor licensing systems, follows:

In America no state legislature has taken full advantage of the possibilities of the license method as an instrument of liquor control.

The licensing system of pre-prohibition days did not deserve the name of system. Ordinarily system was wholly lacking. The law was a hodge-podge of enactment and amendment. Seldom was any attempt made to discriminate between the handling of beer and hard liquor. License administration was frequently in the hands of those who had a personal interest in making control ineffectual.

Our investigations have convinced us that these weaknesses cannot easily be eradicated from the operation of the license system in America, and we recommend the frank abandonment of further legislative tinkering with licenses, and the acceptance of an altogether different method of control.

Weaknesses of License
It must be remembered that the licensed dealers may perhaps be inclined to assist in enforcing the law against illegal practices and illicit trade competition. National prohibition has been a hard school.

The example of government sales agencies successfully operating in the Canadian provinces and possibly in the future in some of our states, will be a constant threat of what may happen if the old abuses return. It is not entirely inconceivable, therefore, that a chastened liquor trade, operating under a sound license system, may come to see that restraint and honest cooperation with license control is the policy dictated by a truly enlightened self-interest.

However, over against this promising new factor must be set the irresponsible codes of lawlessness of the bootleggers, many of whom will now be licensed. It is difficult in advance to estimate the comparative influence of these conflicting forces.

A liquor licensing plan which included all desirable features must still be regarded as defective in four important and, we believe, vital respects.

Its primary weakness consists in the preservation of the private profit motive, which would be threatened through the entire business from manufacture to ultimate local sale. Students of liquor systems and proponents of plans have differed widely in their analyses and in their recommendations, but there is general agreement that elimination of the profit motive, if it can be accomplished, is for America at least, the most promising road to successful control.

A greedy liquor traffic looking only for larger profits will circumvent and evade any system of license defenses which ingenuity can erect. Even if through legislation an arrangement could be contrived, as we have suggested above, by which prices were fixed and profits were limited, it would encounter the inescapable hazards of corruption and run the serious risk of bogging down in the minute details of regulation.

Politics Thus Injected
In the second place, any licensing system tends to project the whole question into politics and to keep it there. Indeed, it compels the traffic to be in politics for self-protection. The licensing body becomes a powerful political engine. Every licensee and every manufacturer who sells to

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

We seldom consider coconut in terms of food value and use it more as a garnish on delicate cakes and cookies. Nevertheless, its food value should not be overlooked.

One cup shredded coconut weighing about three ounces contains 201 calories of protein, 414 of fat and 101 of carbohydrates, making a total of 535 calories. It is also a good source of vitamin B, but low in A.

Consequently, when we add a cup of fresh coconut or of canned coconut to a Washington cream pie or any other concoction, we add both nourishment and calories.

Southern cooks use coconut to make many of their famous delicacies. They sprinkle an unsliced apple pie generously with shredded coconut before putting on the top crust. They add coconut to gingerbread. They combine sliced oranges, pineapple cubes and shredded coconut to make simple and delicious dessert.

From Florida comes the following receipt for coconut pudding.

Coconut Pudding

One and one-half cups shredded fresh coconut, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 cup coconut milk, 3/4 cup sugar, 1/3 cup melted butter, 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat yolks of eggs until very light with sugar. Beat in butter and add bread crumbs, coconut, vanilla and milk of coconut. Pour into a buttered baking dish, place in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven

Paul in Asia Minor

By Wm. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

Our lesson describes the beginning of what is now known as Paul's first missionary journey.

We have already seen Paul at Antioch where he had been brought by Barnabas from Tarsus. The Christians at Antioch had raised contributions for the relief of the distress of their needy brethren at Jerusalem, and they had entrusted Paul and Barnabas with these gifts.

When the two disciples returned from Jerusalem to Antioch, there came the very clear call to them to launch out on a missionary campaign that would take them through Asia Minor. The whole church at Antioch apparently supported them in this venture. Their going was celebrated with fasting and prayer, and leaders in the church at Antioch had laid their hands on Paul and Barnabas, consecrating them to their task.

A young man named John, a nephew of Barnabas, accompanied them as their attendant. This is a matter to note well as John, or John Mark as he is better known, became an occasion of contention between these two fine missionaries.

Also, whatever ground there may have been for Paul's criticism of him on this occasion, John Mark became later one of those great and important figures to whom the church owes so much. It was he who gave to the world the story of the life and teaching of Jesus that we call the "Gospel of Mark."

No study of the missionary journeys of Paul can be satisfactory that does not follow the movements of the missionary apostles on the map. Traced in this way, one can readily appreciate the amount of territory that they covered and the naturalness of their course.

As one follows the map the journey will appear as both by land and sea. They come first to Salamis, in the island of Cyprus, and passing through the island of Paphos, set sail to the mainland of Asia Minor, landing at Perga, in Pamphylia.

Here we are told that John Mark left them, returning to Jerusalem, and though there is no indication of the cause of his going back, the record shows that Paul considered John Mark's return in the nature of a discussion, or a turning back from the cause in which he had enlisted. Even later he felt so strongly about the matter that he separately from Barnabas, when about to begin another journey, because Barnabas insisted that his nephew should go along.

One can easily underestimate or overestimate the nature and importance of such quarrels in the progress of noble causes. In some respects we may rejoice that the Bible reveals so much of human weakness even in great and good men.

If in every detail they had been models of perfection, the effect of their examples might easily be to discourage weaker men. It is when we remember that men like Paul and Barnabas, capable of such goodness and such devotion, were none the less perfect that we who are weaker and more subject to fault find encouragement to emulate their virtues.

The lesson of their lives is not so much that great and good men may have their weak points, but that men who have their weak points may be great and good.

On the map better than in words the student may trace the journey of the missionaries in the circular tour that brought them back to Antioch. The outstanding things to notice are the effectiveness of the preaching of Paul and Barnabas, the real foundations that they laid for Christian groups and churches in a new world movement that ultimately was to conquer an empire, and the way in which the very course of the missionaries was shaped by persecutions and hardships as well as by their success and achievements.

SOCIETY

Mr. Sid Henry Telephone 821

'Tis the last rose of summer,
Left blooming alone;
All her lovely companions
Are faded and gone;
No more of her kindred,
No more of her bloom,
To reflect back her blushes,
Or give sigh for sigh;
I'll not leave thee, thou lone one,
To pine on the stem;
Since the lovely are sleeping,
Go, sleep thou with them;
This kindly I scatter
Thy leaves o'er the bed
Where thy mates of the garden
Lie scentless and dead.
So soon may I follow,
Where friendships decay,
And from Love's shining circle
The gems drop away.
When true hearts lie withered,
And fond ones are flown,
Oh! this bleak world alone
This bleak world alone!

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Beantland were Saturday visitors with friends in the city.

The Women's Missionary Union of the First Baptist church will meet at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the church for their regular mission study.

Attending the Hope Baptist Association at the home of Mrs. J. S. Gibson, Sr., Mrs. J. S. Gibson, Jr., Mrs. Fanny Garrett, Mrs. Hugh Smith, Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Alexander, Mrs. Ida Boyett, Mrs. Anna Duffie, Mrs. R. L. Pearce, Mrs. L. M. Boswell, Mrs. L. Ridgill, Mrs. James Bowden, Mrs. S. L. Padgett, Mrs. J. L. Green, Mrs. W. B. Mason, Mrs. Hugh Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Winn of El Dorado are week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Jewell and other relatives.

Miss Marjorie Higginson of Ouachita College, arrived Friday night to spend the week-end with her parents, Judge and Mrs. L. A. Higginson. Miss Higginson has as her week-end guest, Miss Ellen Lindvall of Malvern.

At the October meeting of the Hope Garden Club held on Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. A. Henry on Division street, several civic improvement ideas were discussed and adopted. The dues of the club were changed for one year only from $100 to $50. The flower show which was to have been held this month was discussed, and owing to the scarcity of flowers, it was decided not to hold the show this fall. Dr. Etta Champlin as chairman of the nominating committee made the following report which was accepted by the club. President, Miss Louise Knobel; Vice-president, Dr. W. R. Alexander; Recording secretary, Mrs. Sid Henry; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. M. LaGrone; Treasurer, Mrs. Ched Hall. The president announced that the same program committee would be continued during the coming club year and Mrs. J. L. Jamison, program chairman, announced the hostesses and leader and assistants for the different meetings. Following the business period, Mrs. Jamison presented a short but very interesting program, including suggestions for the coming year's work. Mrs. R. M. LaGrone read a most inspiring article on Gardens written by Margaret Sangster. Mrs. Jamison closed the program with an article by Ann Batchellor. The meeting adjourned to meet on the third Friday in November with Mrs. A. L. Black.

The October meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. I. Stuart on West avenue C. A very helpful devotional service, "The Christian Use of Personal Liberty" was given followed by prayers. During the business period, many important points were discussed, and Mrs. D. G. Richards was unanimously elected secretary and Mrs. L. F. Higginson was elected to the office of second vice president. It was urged that more complete instruction in the schools regarding the effects of alcohol on the human body and on the social organizations be emphasized, and that a more vigorous effort be made against the liquor traffic and its evils.

The following excerpts from an interesting article entitled "John Barleycorn on Church Street" was read by Mrs. Stuart. The question was asked, How many church folks have thought through the fact that repeat really means putting John Barleycorn back on Main street? We are far more certain that little or no thought has been given to Church street. John Barleycorn was banished because he existed in bad form, but he is going to be invited back in the worst form in which he has ever appeared, now he is headed for a much wider reception than ever. He is to be housed in drug stores, groceries, cafes, cold drink stands and anywhere he may wish to appear. What attitude must we take, may we take? In touching on this question, as it relates to the young people, the question is asked: "Will the present beer vendor be any less a menace than the old time saloon keeper?" A vote of appreciation and thanks was given Mrs. Stuart, the retiring president for her loyalty and untiring efforts during her term of office. One new member was added to the roll. The meeting was dismissed by prayer by Mrs. Vesey-Crutchfield. During a short social hour, a tempting sandwich course was served with tea.

Jack Howard of Atlanta, Ga., arrived Friday night for a visit with Mrs. Howard, who has spent the summer months in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Richards. Friends will be glad to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Howard will be located in Little Rock for the next few months.

Misses Vera VanSickle and Madge Schooley of Ouachita College, Arkadelphia, are spending the week-end with home folks.

Misses Elizabeth Mauldin, and Mary Cook, Herbert Arnold and Norman Moore motored to Nashville Friday afternoon to see the football game.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Clifton of New York City were Friday guests of Mr. Clifton's sister, Mrs. W. C. Miller enroute to Sulphur Springs, Texas for a visit.

Mrs. L. H. Cullum, Mrs. Charles Francis and Mrs. Stuyton Bonner of Wichita Falls, Texas, will arrive Sunday afternoon for several days visit with Mr. and Mrs. T. S. McDavitt. As special compliment to the visitors, a number of social affairs have been planned for next week.

BRILLIANT RUNNING

and then Turner carried it over, eliminating an 88-yard march. Hargis plunged for extra point.

Again in the second quarter Hope crossed the goal line, but a teammate was offside and it was declared no score. Hope took possession of the ball on Malvern's 30-yard line when Kennedy blocked a punt. A lateral pass from Brown to Turner netted eight yards. Hargis plunged for eight more. Brown heaved a pass to Car-gill who was brought down on the two-yard line. There was no gain from two punches at the line. Brown carried the ball on the next play and went across, only to be ruled no score because Hope was offside. A pass went into the end zone and it was Malvern's ball.

The ball in mid-field as the final quarter opened. Brown and Hargis on a series of end runs and line plunges, carried the ball to Malvern's five-yard line.

A Third Fumble

Another touchdown was lost when Hope fumbled, the third costly one in the second half. After no gain Malvern punted out of danger on the second play. Hope took the ball near mid-field, but soon lost it when an attempted pass was intercepted.

Malvern tried a pass on the third play, which was intercepted by Hargis. On two plays Hope scored another touchdown. Brown tossed a 15-yard pass to Turner. On the next play he threw again to Turner who got into the open, running 35 yards to the goal.

From end to end the Bobcat team as a whole displayed more strength and drive than in any previous game of the season. Brown's dashes, Hargis' butting, the line, sprinks by Car-gill and Harper, and Turner's ability on the receiving end of passes made the game thrilling. The team as a unit, weathered its "big test" in an impressive fashion. An injured nip kept Matheson, the fleetest back on the team, on the sidelines during a greater portion of the game.

The starting lineups:

Hope	Malvern
Anderson	Singleton
Green	Center
Drake	Right guard
Urban	Right tackle
Brown	Right end
Turner	Quarterback
Harper	Right half
	Fullback
Officials:	Methen, referee; W. Cook, headlinesman; O'Neal, umpire; J. Cook, field judge and time keeper.

FRANCE WOULDN'T

stir is heard. Then a guffaw—not a cheerful, but a bad-tempered one. Then come occasional whistles—the French form of booing.

The film changes. One sees a throng of murrainers whooping it up along a reproduction of a mean Paris street. A silly agent de police (Americans call them gendarmes) reels along in front, in a costume which went out when the war came in. The street is featured by a small round building which, while administering to the physical comfort of citizens, doesn't add to the aesthetic charm of the scene. The whistling becomes general. A loud hum of irate conversation rises. The French are sore.

Then comes the final blow—the Cafe de la Paix and the Place de l'Opera. Or so these places are called on street signs, though in fact they bear not the slightest resemblance to this busy, dignified center of Paris and its world-famous restaurant and cafe. Bewildered adds its querulous note to the resentment in the theater. How could anybody be so ignorant, a Frenchman asks his neighbor, as to imagine this scene as the heart of Paris?

Onto the square prance a pair of Apache dancers—a dance of the vintage of 1908. Now the audience is frankly shouting with angry laughter. The whistling gets shriller, and the picture ends.

Not Quite True

The rowdy and frivolous picture of France is in sharp contrast to the charming scene in a Belgian village, to the Nuremberg display, and to numerous other exhibits which Paris has a chance to watch on the screen. The audience is keenly aware of the difference.

The outspoken comments on the morals, manners, and intelligence of the Americans make any representatives of that nation in the audience keenly aware of their unpopularity. Nobody has yet stood up in the auditorium of the Marignan, however, to tell his French neighbors that they themselves are responsible—through their government—for the unhappiness they now feel about what happened at Chicago.

France refused to have any share in the Chicago exposition. While Britain was sending over her "Royal Scot," Italy her Bulbo armada, Belgium, Germany and other nations their respective exhibits, France firmly declined.

Rockefeller Report

a licensee, or has any interest in the business, begins to marshal his own political strength to serve his own ends.

A multitude of private traders means a multitude of opportunities for political favoritism. Even if under severely restrictive licensing arrangements the initial results were fairly satisfactory, the test would come later as vendors learned the ropes. Then would appear the annual flood of bills in the legislature proposing amendments designed to relax the license system's stranglehold on licensees. The advocates of restriction would counter with their lobbies, and the whole miserable conflict would again be upon us.

In the third place, a system of licenses to private traders is, theoretically at least, incompatible with any idea of temperance education. While individual vendors of the better class will perhaps from motives of self-interest and conscience join with temperance forces in curbing individual abuse, this is as far as they will go.

They will not welcome a general falling off of consumption. If we assume, first, that it is of prime importance to avoid stimulation of demand for alcoholic beverages, and second, that private traders will in fact endeavor to stimulate demand, then we are faced with a contradiction which plainly cannot be reconciled within a single system of control.

In the fourth place, to adopt the license method is to follow the easy path, but it is a path which affords no sure retreat if the system proves unsatisfactory. For the establishment of a licensed liquor trade means the deep entrenchment of a far-flung proprietary interest.

This interest would have a large capital investment to be protected at all costs. Buildings, leases, fixtures, inventories, stock and bonds representing millions of dollars—would be in an acute defense against those who in the public interest might threaten curb or reduction.

The question of property rights would at once be involved, and the states adopting the license system would be faced, as England is faced today, with a widespread disinclination seriously to disturb a business in, to which so much money had been put.

Must Eliminate Profit

Moreover, such a vested interest is bound to employ aggressive tactics in its own defense. Liquor trade associations, open and disguised, would continuously oppose every restriction of opportunities to sell. Manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers, through their respective associations, would unite in restricting disestablishment of retail selling outlets whenever attempts were made to eliminate a portion of them either by local option or by reduction of the total number of licensed places.

It would be possible to elaborate at length the details of trickery, evasion and corruption historically associated with the license system. Perhaps, by a Herculean effort, we would temporarily hold in check the instinct of business to increase its profits, but we would be gratuitously assuming a task that in the long run promises nothing but disappointment and defeat.

The profit motive is the core of the problem. Under the license system liquor, unless society as a whole can take over this business in the protection of its citizens, the future, at least in America, holds out only the prospect of an endless guerrilla warfare between a nation fighting for temperance and a traffic that thrives on excess.

SPEEDY ACTION

such action will serve the cause of word peace.

In the most cordial terms the Soviet president, Mikhail Kalinin, replied to a message the United States executive sent him on October 19, and announced he would send the foreign commissioner, Maxim Litvinoff to Washington.

The Russian Statement

A foreign office spokesman who gave out copies of the messages between the two presidents said that "President Roosevelt's steps comes at a moment of a very serious and complicated international situation in which the cause of peace is being assailed in many parts of the world."

"I call attention especially," he went on, "to the withdrawal of Germany from the League of Nations and the situation in the Far East."

"President Roosevelt's action can only serve the cause of peace and encourage friends of peace in the whole world. The Soviet union's point of view is well known to the United States."

"We do not see any insaluble obstacle to a normal relationship and no contradictions between the two countries."

"We hope therefore that President Roosevelt's message is the first step toward fruitful co-operation between the two countries which will be useful in the cause of peace and which might even be able to change the international scene."

Seek 3 Results

Friday's announcement occasioned universal satisfaction in the U. S. S. R. because from the resumption of official relations Soviet Russia hopes for a threefold result:

1. Greatly increased credit facilities; the lifting of American barriers against some of its gods, and a strengthening of its position in the Far East with a respect to its relations with Japan.

2. Russia has virtually made the first two conditions for any serious revival of Soviet-American trade, which has declined since 1931.

3. Moscow needs long term credits for any purchases it may make in the United States because its exports are not sufficient to pay for the goods it wishes to buy abroad.

At the same time, it insists on equality with other countries in access to the American market, which it claims does not now enjoy because of what it alleges to be discriminatory restrictions placed on goods produced by "forced labor."

It is considered not unlikely that the Russians will seek credit facilities from the United States at least equal in term to those they enjoy in such countries as Germany, England and Italy. These governments have assisted private business in Finawmijm Soviet purchases in their countries over periods of ranging from two to more than four years.

In this connection, Soviet officials looked hopefully to the precedent set last summer by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in lending $4,000,000 to American business men to finance cotton sales to Russia as a possible entering wedge for longer and larger credits from the same source.

As Reno, the militant leader of the farm strike movement, raced from St. Paul to Omaha to obtain support of business men for the movement and then to Des Moines to look over the Iowa situation, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska extended his sympathy to the purposes of the strike, and Governor A. G. Schmedeman of Wisconsin pledged his administration to assist "in a forceful but dignified demand which will immediately put agriculture in Wisconsin on the road to restoration of its former high position." Announcements of co-operation came from various quarters.

To fortify his embargo order, its effectiveness still unproven Governor Lange ordered North Dakota sheriffs to stop shipments of wheat from the state by refusing to permit elevators to load grain. The aid of the national guard was promised in enforcement of the decree. Railroads persisted in their stand that they would not observe the order.

Arkansas Playing L. S. U., Shreveport

Centenary-Baylor Scores Give Louisiana an Advantage

By OREN M. STEPHENS

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—With six regulars out on account of injuries the Arkansas Razorbacks are playing the Louisiana State Tigers in a non-conference tilt Saturday. The game is a feature of the opening of the Louisiana State Fair at Shreveport.

For the past two or three years the L. S. U. Tigers have been coming to the front as a football power in the South, but this year it looks like they are stronger than ever. The Tigers were tied last Saturday by the Centenary Gentlemen, but according to first downs and scoring threats the Tigers were superior. They made one touchdown which was called back and they did not have the punch to score again.

It must be remembered that this same Centenary team defeated Baylor 19 to 0, and only a spectacular rally in the last five minutes enabled Arkansas to beat the Bears 19 to 7.

Even with Murphy, Biddle, Benton, Black, Criswell, and Spivey on the injured list and the hope against them, the Razorbacks will probably make the Tigers earn every yard they get, and every score, if they are that lucky. Flashy LaForge was not able to get away in the game against Baylor Saturday, but if the Tigers are not careful he will flash across their goal line before they realize where he is. His runs in the first three games Arkansas played this year attracted attention in football circles over the entire nation.

The Jordan twins, Clark and George, are almost sure to start the game. For years they have thrilled Arkansas fans with their forward passes while playing with Fordyce high school and then at the University of Arkansas. Last Saturday thousands of fans got the supreme thrill when "Click" hurled a beautiful 40-yard pass to "Jud", who tucked it under his arm and dashed 15 yards for the winning touchdown against the Baylor Bears. This combination is sure to deal the Tigers plenty of misery in running as well as in passing because George is an exceptional blocker when brother Clark is carrying the ball.

Red Cross Ready for Its Roll Call

Wash Hutson to Serve as County Chairman for Member Drive

Hempstead county's Red Cross organization was preparing Saturday for the annual Roll Call canvass, which begins Armistice day and runs through Thanksgiving day.

At a meeting Friday, presided over by County Chairman D. B. Thompson, it was announced that Wash Hutson would serve as Roll Call chairman this year.

With characteristic speed the American Red Cross, during the fiscal year ending last June 30, answered humanity's call in seventy-seven disasters, scattered in all parts of the United States.

Floods, tornadoes, forest fires and earthquakes, left their devastating effects in half the states of the nation and tens of thousands of stricken families were forced to turn to the Red Cross for succor. During the first six months of 1933 the national organization experienced one of the busiest periods in its peace-time history.

Last spring the combined forces of high water, wind and fire, climaxed by the southern California quake of March 10, resulted in deaths of 426 persons, injured 9,900 others and wrecked or damaged 17,872 homes. In addition the relief agency extended assistance during the year to nearly a score of calamities in insular possessions and abroad.

Distress from disasters, necessitating action of the Red Cross, has been felt on several occasions in Arkansas during recent years.

Trade Days Are Successful Here

Circus Tickets to Be Distributed Up to Show-Time Monday

Hope's Trade Days brought splendid response to local stores Friday and Saturday, according to a survey made Saturday afternoon.

Although the weather was warm, the stores were unusually busy. A few items, which were still selling at old prices, had been sold out entirely, in some of the stores. Out-of-town people from distant points were seen on the streets throughout Friday and Saturday.

Merchants guest circus tickets will be given with all purchases by co-operating stores all day Monday, or as long as the supply of tickets last. Circus-goers will make a saving by having these tickets.

Russell Brothers' circus is due to arrive in Hope Sunday morning, from Marshall, Texas. The entire circus is transported on motor trucks. A lot north of Cook's Gin has been engaged for the shows.

Any failure on the part of the subscriber to pay is a direct loss to the young man. Although the amount is small in each individual case, very many such delays or losses could be a serious matter to the carrier that serves you.

Russell Circus to Show on Monday

Three-Ring Event Will Play Here Afternoon and Night

A circus holiday is perhaps as popular as any holiday. The next such holiday for Hope will be Monday, October 23.

Just as holidays are different so are circuses. There was a time when it was alleged that all circuses were alike—but this does not seem to hold good in these days.

The progressive showmen have modernized their show equipment and to visit a circus today is a more comfortable thing to do than formerly. The Russell Brothers Three Ring Circus which exhibits here soon carries its own electric light plant and keeps its grounds well lighted even after the night performance is over. There was a time when a circus advertised rain proof tents which proved not to be as advertised, but now all the modern circuses use tents that are thoroughly water proof.

Account of so many modern conveniences being demanded by the public even with the circus, as well as cry for acts that thrill and are daring as well as novel, Mr. Circus Manager must ever be alert in arranging his program. The Russell Brothers emphasize quality of performance more than they do quantity. They insist on presenting a truly high class performance, and for this purpose they carry an army of arena stars as well as clowns who keep plenty of life before the crowds in the three rings and on the hippodrome track.
